HOOK WORM IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Explanation for Pupils not Getting to School on Time. Disease Increasing in Gettysburg with Great Rapidity. Last Month's Record.

The far famed hook worm, the parasite which causes laziness and general worthlessness, has found its way into the public schools of Gettysburg and has had a bad effect on the pupils. Rockefeller's million dollar gift to eradicate the disease would come in very well in this section at the present time for the school authorities report a serious state of affairs among the children.

The manner in which the workings of the hook worm are shown is brought out in the monthly report of Supervising Principal Burgoon who reports an increase in the number of cases of tardiness of 159. The first month there were 231 cases of tardiness reported while the second month had 390. This is in spite of the fact that Prof. Burgoon issued a special request at the close of the first month that parents try to get their children to school on time.

The school in which the greatest percentage of tardiness cases exists is the colored school, one of the smallest schools in the town, the number of cases there being from two to six times as many as in any other school with the exception of the high school. The high school comes next in proportion to the number attending while the primary schools have the best record. The average attendance this month was 551 against 546 for last month. The enrollment is 589 as against 588, the percentage of attendance is 95, for first month 95. The first month there were 268 present every day, the second month 367.

The following is the report of the various town schools for the past month the figures in order representing the number enrolled, average attendance, percentage of attendance, number present every day and the number of cases of tardiness:

What Bothered Him.

A peculiar instance of connubial affection occurred some time ago in Vermont. An aged couple, who through half a century of married life had wrangled with each other, were in all probability soon to be separated. The husband was taken sick and was believed to be near his end. The old wife came to his bedside and, after carefully examining and taking stock of his condition, exclaimed, "Why, daddy, your feet are cold, your hands are cold, and your nose is cold!" "Waah, let 'em be cold." "Why, daddy, you're goin' to die." "Waah, I guess I know what I'm 'bout." "Daddy, what's to becom of me if you die?" "I dunno, and I don't care. W'at I want to know is w'at's to becom of me."

ASPERS

Aspers, Nov. 2—Henry Naylor, after a sojourn of several years at Franklin Grove, Illinois, has come home to spend some time with the family of his son, H. A. Naylor, Esq., who conducts a hardware and general store at this place. Uncle Henry is still in his vigor and is daily hustling about assisting in the store and around the cider press as busily as when some years ago he carried on the blacksmith shop and the farm together. It makes one feel happy to meet such agreeable old friends occasionally.

Rev. J. W. Waters, the United Brethren minister who filled the greater part of the past conference year by appointment on Bendersville charge, has accepted a more lucrative position as pastor of a church at Battle Creek, Michigan. Rev. Mr. Waters, as pastor was one of the most able ministers that Bendersville charge has ever had and the loss of his scholarly, straight forward sermons will be keenly realized by all in the charge. His many friends have prevailed upon him to live among them and the reverend gentleman has moved his family into a private house in Bendersville where they expect to reside permanently. Rev. Mr. Waters started for his new field of labor on Thursday.

Mrs. John M. Howard accompanied by her niece and nephew, L. Gladys and Howard McBeth are off for a visit to friends in Steelton.

Eli D. Guise moved his family into his new house last week and his son Harrison with his family now occupy the farm house.

Miss Edna Fissel is staying with the family of John W. Smith.

A. F. Roudesh made a business trip to Carlisle on last Monday.

HILARITY PROMOTER COMING

"A Knight for a Day" is a promoter of hilarity in the truest sense of the word. Frank Deshon takes the part of "Jonathan Jay," a former waiter who becomes a kind of a nobleman. An estate in Corsica provides plenty of reasons for serio-comic entanglements. Its possession depends upon the holders of two similar lockets and there are lots of ludicrous incidents. While the fun elements give the play particular value, it is also rich in songs, music, dances, pretty girls and costumes.

ESSICK--HOFF

Francis J. Essick, of Hanover, and Miss Mae E. Hoff, of York Springs, were married Sunday evening Oct. 31, at the rectory of the Immaculate Conception Church, New Oxford, by Rev. Fr. Martin. The young couple were attended by Miss Mary Essick and Leo Essick, sister and brother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Essick will reside in Hanover, where he is employed in a barber shop.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED

The First National Bank has declared a semi annual dividend of four per cent regular and two per cent special. The Gettysburg National Bank has declared its regular four per cent regular and one per cent extra semi annual dividend.

To me it seems as if when God conceived the world that was poetry; he formed it, and that was sculpture; he painted, and colored it, and that was painting; and then, crowning all, he peopled it with living beings, and that was the grand, divine, eternal drama—Charlotte Cushman.

He Got The Order.

A London firm lately received from another London firm this letter:

Dear Sir—Today we have given your Mr. X. an order, thanks to his colossal impudence. Where did you find him?

Mr. X. had only just started selling, and this was an order from a firm that all his predecessors had canvassed in vain. The head of Mr. X.'s firm called him in and questioned him about the charge of "colossal impudence."

"Well," the young traveler explained, "you told me to adapt myself to all manner of circumstances and behave to possible customers in their own way. In this case the head didn't look up for three minutes after I went in, and then he said, 'Well, what blood-sucking firm do you represent?' I gave him your card and said, 'These rotten vampires,' and it seemed to tickle him."

CLOSING DAYS OF TOURIST TRADE

Closing Tourist Season One of the Best Gettysburg has had for Many Years. One Business Man's View of the Past Summer.

With the opening of November the tourist season is rapidly drawing to a close for this year. The season throughout has been one of the best which Gettysburg has ever had. A prominent business man of town in discussing the business side of the Summer months says:

"There was a good steady trade all Summer and with the exception of years in which we had National Guard encampments it was a record breaker. The big business of May 29, 30 and 31 helped to make the Summer the big success which it has been and Grand Army week contributed in no small degree, even though it was not the success that we hoped it would be. This, of course, was due largely to the very long siege of inclement weather.

"The trade throughout the Summer was uniform. There was scarcely a day when my trade with tourists did not amount to something and sometimes it reached quite handsome figures. I was no exception for every man in town who profits directly from the tourists had the same experience.

"We find the automobile trade bringing thousands here every year and they prove to be among the best people we get, so far as money spending is concerned. The excursions during the Summer were numerous and we have no cause to complain."

On all sides is the same story, people well pleased with the Summer business which means so very much to Gettysburg. Busy Summers make a prosperous town. Gettysburg is just completing one of the busiest Summers it has had for a long time.

BETTER TILLAGE DID IT.
What can be accomplished by the mere fact of a thorough cultivation of the soil has been brought to the writer's attention very forcibly during the past few weeks. A fifty or sixty acre field belonging to a farm which has been share rented for the past twenty years and hence gradually robbed of its fertility—for it has not been manured or replenished with clover—was given a deep plowing and this year planted to corn. Prior to this year the field had been sort of an agricultural byword, little being expected of it and as little being realized from it. This season, however, different tactics were followed. The field was put in good tillage as a seed bed, good seed planted and a good stand of corn secured. During the growing season it was cultivated thoroughly five times. The result was an early and not only did this handling result in a good growth of stalks which were well cared, but so mellow was the surface kept that the crop was able to withstand protracted dry weather in much better shape than richer and heavier land which was not so well tilled, notwithstanding it had a coarse gravel subsoil. A lot of farmers who have driven past this field have been wondering what magic was used on it. It was just a matter of cultivation of the soil which unlocked its possibilities, in spite of the fact that its fertility was badly depleted. The same cultivation, coupled with manure and clover, would accomplish even better results. These three things ought to be tried on thousands of farms through the cotton, corn and small grain belts.

PROXY FARMING.
One of the greatest curses of present day American agriculture is the all too prevalent system of proxy farming, or absentee landlordism. Go into any section one will and the most rundown places are almost without exception those owned by men who live in town and have turned the virtual management of the farm over to a cash or share renter, who in all too many cases, being on a short lease, thinks he does best for himself by skinning the land to the limit. Very likely the owner came into possession of the property when land was got for a song or inherited it from some thrifty parent, and it is natural enough if he receives a fair interest return on what he considers is invested that he should not be as alert along the line of seeing that its fertility is kept in repair as he ought to be. Best results are obtained in the farm management when the owner works it himself if he has any Fairbanks, Alaska, Nov. 2.—A party of five Alaskans, all familiar with Mount McKinley, has been organized to climb the peak this winter. It has been announced. The climb is to be made to put an end to the controversy whether Dr. Cook reached the summit. The party will start Nov. 15.

Find $100 Pearl in Clam Stew.
Trenton, N. J., Nov. 2.—Former Smith found a $100 pearl in a 15-cent clam stew he was eating. He proposed to spend a portion of his winnings in getting another pearl that way.

While It May Be a Fact not Generally Known, the badger, or groundhog, considers pocket gophers and ground squirrels a delicacy and for this reason, if no other, should be viewed as a friend rather than an enemy of the farmer and orchardist.

Road Building in Missouri.
Missouri now has 800 miles of macadam roads, 15 per cent of which was added during the past year. The mileage of gravel road was increased during the same season by 300 miles, making a total of 4,400 miles.

PEARY PROVES HE REACHED POLE
National Geographic Society Accepts His Claim.
TO LECTURE IN WASHINGTON

The Society Invited Polar Explorer to Make His First Appearance on the Lecture Platform Under Their Direction.

Washington, Nov. 2.—A report declaring that Commander Robert E. Peary has substantiated his claim to having reached the North Pole on April 9 this year will be given to the public about the last of this week, bearing the endorsement of the board of managers of the National Geographic society. Soon thereafter Commander Peary will probably go on the lecture platform, and if he accepts an invitation about to be extended to him, he will make his first appearance in Washington under the direction of the National Geographic society. The society has indicated that it would be pleased to have Commander Peary lecture Nov. 12.

That the National Geographic society, after proper investigation, is satisfied that Peary reached the pole, was indicated by a member of the organization, who said: "We will invite him to address us here this month. That ought to satisfy you as to what we think of Peary's exploit in the polar regions."

Commander Peary arrived here in response to a request of President Willis L. Moore, of the Geographic society, that he appear before a sub-committee of the society appointed to pass on his data and instruments and to offer such other evidence bearing on his dash to the pole as he cared to submit. A portion of Commander Peary's data was placed in the hands of the sub-committee last week. This body wanted more light on certain features of Peary's journey northward, and it was furnished by the explorer, who was in session with the sub-committee all afternoon and most of the evening prior to his departure for New York.

While no official statement on the subject was made by any member of the sub-committee, it was learned that they decided to report to the board substantiating Peary's claim that he reached the pole.

Arrested Police Force.
Gary, Ind., Nov. 2.—The entire police force was arrested, and troops are in readiness to move on the town at a moment's notice, in anticipation of election riots. Two hundred deputies were sworn in by Sheriff Grant, on Governor Marshall's order, and made the arrests of the police as their first official action.

Guilty of Misapplying Funds.
Pittsburg, Nov. 2.—After being out less than half an hour, a United States jury returned a verdict of guilty against David J. Richardson, former cashier of the failed Cosmopolitan National bank, of Pittsburg, which failed fifteen months ago for $1,500,000. He was charged with misapplying funds of the bank.

Dying From Snake Bite.
New York, Nov. 2.—Albert Price, of Hazleton, Pa., a snake charmer, failed to soothe a rattlesnake in a Fourteenth street museum and was bitten. He is now unconscious and not expected to live.

Care of the Colt.
The feed and care of the colt are almost as much importance as the breed. A pure bred colt can be ruined by neglect, and a colt of fair grade stock can be made a clipper by proper care. Care, in other words, is needed in raising any kind of colt with profit.

The Feeding Pail.
A sour, dirty feeding pail may cause the death of your best calf from scours. Every feeding pail should daily be first rinsed in cold water, then scalded with boiling water and dried in the sun.

It would not be a bad idea to talk over with the boy or boys the plans for the season's crop operations. It is barely possible that they have had their eyes wide open and have found out why Neighbor Smith is raising ten to fifteen more bushels of corn or small grain to the acre than is being raised on the home place and why it wouldn't be just as well to raise a few pure bred cattle and hogs instead of so many scrubs. If they are sort of taken into partnership, their interest in things will be doubled and their efforts to carry out plans that are made greatly increased.

BIG MINE CAVE-IN
Fissures Show in the Streets at Edwardsville, Pa.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 2.—Subsidence of the surface over old mine workings at Edwardsville, near here, damaged the Mount Hunlock public school so badly that it was abandoned and the pupils transferred to another school. The main streets of the town show large cracks and fissures and a number of houses are damaged, the foundation walls being cracked by the settling of the earth under them. The subsidence is extending steadily, and workers of the Kingston Coal company are doing all they can to check it.

Both Orville and Wilbur Wright have surpassed Lieutenant Lahm's feat, however, several times.

AFRAID HIS RED HAIR WOULD BETRAY HIM
Escaped Prisoner Returns to Jail and Surrenders.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 2.—Despairing because his fiery red hair, of avoiding the police who have been searching for him since his escape from the Columbia county jail, James Kelly, of Danville, returned to the jail and surrendered. He said that his hair made him a marked man wherever he went, and knowing that the police all over the state would scan each red haired man they saw, as long as he was at liberty, he decided to give himself up. He is charged with stealing a furnace from the residence of C. C. Barger, of Bloomsburg, taking it out under the pretense that the landlord was going to put in a new one and selling it to a junk man.

Scrap Book
Jarrod the Judge.
In Illinois there is an old law to the statute books to the effect that in criminal cases the jury is "judge of the law as well as of the facts." Though not often quoted, once in awhile a lawyer with a desperate case makes use of it. In one case the judge instructed the jury that it was to judge of the law as well as the facts, but added that it was not to judge of the law unless it was fully satisfied that it knew more law than the judge. An outrageous verdict was brought in, contrary to all instructions of the court, who felt called upon to rebuke the jury. At last one old farmer arose. "Judge," said he, "weren't you to judge the law as well as the facts?" "Certainly," was the response. "But I told you not to judge the law unless you were clearly satisfied that you knew the law better than I did." "Well, judge," answered the farmer as he shifted his quid, "we considered that p'int."

A blacksmith in San Juan Bautista claims to have discovered a process for hardening copper, an art that was in common use in ancient times, but was in some way lost. He has made knife blades which seem to be sharp and hard as a razor, while he has copper chisels which may be driven through the hardest woods. His secret has not been given scientific approval, but he has evidently discovered something worth while.

Free Sample For Baby's Ills
Something can and must be done for the puny, crying baby, for the child that refuses to eat and is restless in his sleep. And since the basis of all health is the proper working of the digestive organs, look first to the condition of the stomach and bowels.
A child should have two full and free movements of the bowels a day. This emptying of the bowels is very important, as with it comes a clear head, a lightness of step, good appetite and sound sleep. But it is equally important to know what to give the child in the emergency of constipation and indigestion. Cathartics are too strong and salts and other purgatives are not only too strong, but the child refuses them because of their bad taste. Have you ever tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin? It is a liquid, pleasant-tasting and promptly effective. It is good for you as well as the child, but there is nothing better to be found for children. They like its taste and you will not have to force them to take it.
First of all, if you have not yet used it, Dr. Caldwell would like to send you a sample bottle free of charge. In this way you can try it before buying. Later, when convinced of its merits, you can get it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as thousands of other families are doing. The family of Mr. D. W. Spangler of Strattonville, Pa., as well as that of Mr. A. F. Johnson of Walnut Grove, Tenn., started with it in that way and now write that it is their only family necessity next to food itself. If you are not sure enough to have a sickly child, one given to constipation and indigestion, you should send for a free sample of this remedy.
Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 621 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

CHEAP PLOWING.
A north Iowa gasoline engine manufactory, the largest of its kind in the world, some time ago established an experimental farm on which during the season closing all of the plowing, disking and seeding operations have been done with traction engines. In the matter of comparative crop yields the figures have not been fully worked out, but in the plowing operations it was found that the cost in labor, oil, etc., of plowing an acre was 35 cents. While the large areas on which steam or gasoline tractors would give most effective and economical results are in a way incompatible with the widespread tendency toward a division of these large areas and the following of a more intensive type of tillage, the fact remains that there are still a good many sections where the small tractor might be used with decided advantage as a substitute for horses in plowing and other farming operations. A feature of the above machine plowing that ought to be mentioned is that it was done at a depth of from seven to eight inches, which is nearly twice the depth of ordinary horse plowing.

Plenty of Exercise For Sows.
Brood sows should have plenty of exercise that they may get strong litters of pigs, full of vitality. It is best to have the sows work for several years if they have proved good breeders and careful mothers. They will raise more and better pigs than the young gilts.
Good Treatment.
It takes a smarter man than most of us to doctor a sick hog. Better keep your porkers well and giving them good feed, good care and good treatment than to try to doctor them after they get sick. Overcrowding is a prolific source of disease.
An advantage of the cement floor in the stable is that it makes possible a saving of the liquid manures, which contain valuable fertilizing elements. These may be absorbed by abundant bedding of straw, or, in the case of cows, earth, leaves or sawdust may be scattered in the gutter at the rear of the animals. The important thing is the saving of these liquids, the method being of minor importance.

Signals Of Distress

Gettysburg People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.
Sick kidneys give many signals of distress. The secretions are dark, contain a sediment. Passages are frequent, scanty, painful. Backache is constant day and night. Headaches and dizzy spells are frequent. The weakened kidneys need quick help. Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, backache and urinary disorders. Gettysburg evidence proves this statement.
Mrs. Sarah Hamilton, 66 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I endured much misery from disordered kidneys for a long time and was unable to find anything that would give me relief. I was very nervous, suffered from headaches and at times had sharp, shooting pains throughout my body. The passages of the kidney secretions were also very irregular. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box at the People's drug store and used them. I improved from the first and am today in better health than before in years. I give Doan's Kidney Pills my heartiest endorsement."

MULE BREEDING.

Weight and Cons Are Cardinal Points in a Jack.
An expert on breeding mules says: The first point is to see that the mule's size is a large jack, recorded in the American Jack Stock Studbook. He should stand 55 inches or even 10 hands high and should weigh up to 1,100 or 1,200 pounds. The mule should have a large, stout body and heavy bone. Weight and bone are cardinal points in a jack.
If mules sired by light stallions—standard breeds and coaches are bred to such a jack, mules of good quality and fair weight may be expected. If the mares are by good standard bred saddle or thoroughbred stallions, the mules will be very active and will possess much quality and finish. If these mares have good weight, say 1,100 or 1,200 pounds, this mating will produce the finest sugar mules. If somewhat smaller, good cotton mules will result.
If draft bred mares are used, the mules will, of course, be heavier. Such mules are the draft mules of the market and are in strong demand for city use. They have more weight than sugar mules, but not quite so much quality.
For small, indifferent 800 pound mares without breeding nothing better can be expected than the production of inferior cotton mules or pit and pack mules. It is useless to try to breed good mules from poor mares, and this is one reason why so much attention has been given to the discussion of the importance of horse breeding in the south.
There will probably always be more demand in the south for mules than for work horses, which can be supplied by locally raised animals, but it is necessary first to have a supply of good, useful farm brood mares. It is doubtful if any jack is good enough to sire a good mule from a small, coarse, plug mare.

ELECTIONS PASS OFF QUIETLY

HOT FIGHT IN QUAKER CITY

Republicans Claim Usual Victory, While Independents Claim Giboney Will Be Elected District Attorney by 60,000—Both Sides Claim New York City.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 2.—Republican leaders of state prominence declared, before leaving for home to vote, their belief in the election of the Republican state ticket by a good majority, but admitted there was a possibility of Judge von Moschizker running behind, especially in a number of the interior counties.

Candidates Slason and Stober they predict will receive the usual off year majority, the estimates ranging anywhere from 50,000 to 100,000, although few go that high.

Considerable apprehension has been displayed in the last twenty-four hours over the effect of the activity of Munson and his campaign bureau in various parts of the state. Counties all through the Susquehanna valley have been flooded with literature in the last two days and volunteer committees have been at work.

State Democratic headquarters made a last claim, declaring Munson would have 60,000 majority in the state, out side of Philadelphia, and that he would carry several big central counties. At headquarters they claim to have letters from a score of counties where the Republican committeemen have not bothered themselves about the campaign because of an alleged lack of funds.

General apathy is reported all over the state towards the state ticket.

The general belief is that the constitutional amendments will be carried, with the possible exception of the seventh, which relates to appointment of election boards. This is being antagonized in the cities. In the country districts abolition of the February elections is also arousing some opposition, but is not believed to be strong enough to defeat the proposition.

IN PHILADELPHIA

Contest Over County Ticket the Bit-terest in History of the City.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—With the Republican leaders claiming victory in every ward except the Twenty-second, and the independent leaders claiming 60,000 majority in the city, the polls opened this morning at 7 o'clock for the verdict of the voters.

Although the state campaign has been centered on the election of a judge to the supreme court, for which the Democratic nominee has made a thorough canvass, all forces in Philadelphia are centered on the election of a district attorney.

The county ticket is as follows:

District Attorney.
Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, Progressive and Workingmen's League.
D. Clarence Giboney, William Penn Party, Democrat, City, Philadelphia and Giboney Stalwart.
Louis J. Santamarie, Socialist.
Register of Wills.
David Martin, Republican, Progressive and Workingmen's League.
Edwin O. Lewis, William Penn Party, Democrat, City, Philadelphia and Giboney Stalwart.
William H. Lowry, Prohibition.
John J. Miller, Socialist.
City Treasurer.
Murrell Dobbins, Republican, Progressive and Workingmen's League.
Thomas T. Nelson, Democrat.
John J. Murphy, William Penn Party, City, Philadelphia and Giboney Stalwart.
H. K. W. Patterson, Prohibition.
David C. Fairbanks, Socialist.

The campaign, which has been one of the bitterest in the history of the city, with an exceptionally strong undercurrent, is expected to reach its climax in a bitter contest in every ward of the city. No fighting ground has been conceded by either side. The independents have been active to keep down the majorities of the solid democrats and the Republican organization contest every inch of the ground as normally independent wards.
In the final survey of the situation the workers on both sides agreed that the result will depend largely on the temper of the people. On this depends the extent to which the police powers may be used, and to some degree it will depend also on the temper of the people to what extent money can be used.
"Money and the police club against money and enthusiasm," is the situation as summed up by workers on both sides, and it was made plain that money will play a very large factor in deciding the election.

Outlook in Massachusetts.
Boston, Nov. 2.—The question as to whether Governor Eben S. Draper and the balance of the Republican state ticket shall continue in office or give place to James H. Vahey, the Democratic candidate for governor, and the other nominees of that ticket, is being decided at the polls today.

The Republicans claim the state by

SURE BANNARD WILL WIN

New York Republicans Claim Tammany Is Defeated.

New York, Nov. 2.—Cheerfulness, amounting almost to confidence, pervades the Bannard headquarters today. That the fusion candidate for mayor and the entire county ticket would be elected seemed to be the impression of Fusion Republican campaigners who are adept at election figures and in position to touch the under currents.

Repeating his prediction that Otto T. Bannard, the fusion candidate for mayor, would be elected by 70,000 plurality, Herbert Parsons, chairman of the Republican county committee, gave four reasons why he thought William J. Gaynor, Tammany's candidate, would poll only 105,000 votes in New York county. This was considerably below the customary Tammany vote in Manhattan and the Bronx.

Taxation Issue In Ohio.

Cincinnati, Nov. 2.—The cities and towns of Ohio are voting today in strictly municipal elections. Where there has been anything like a leading issue it has been taxation.

In Cincinnati Dr. Louis Schwab is the Republican candidate for mayor, while John Weld Peck, a young lawyer, is the Democratic nominee.

In Cleveland Mayor Tom L. Johnson is a candidate for re-election on the Democratic ticket.

In Toledo Mayor Brand Whitlock is striving for a third term. The issues are taxation and a coming street railway franchise. Mayor Whitlock is running as an independent.

Both Parties Claim Rhode Island.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 2.—The Republican and Democratic campaign managers claim that their respective candidates for gubernatorial honors—Governor Aram J. Potheier and Olney Arnold—will be elected today.

P. R. R. ANNOUNCES STOCK ALLOTMENT

Directors Vote to Issue $80,000,000 at Par.

Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—The board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad authorized a stock allotment at par. This, it is expected, will bring nearly $80,000,000 into the corporation's treasury, or an increase of nearly 2 per cent upon the present capitalization.

Another important innovation was a change in the dividend period from semi-annual to quarterly.

Following the board meeting, at which was also declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent.

JAMES MCCREA.

James McCrea, president of the company, said that the $80,000,000 will be sufficient to meet the $60,000,000 of notes and $20,000,000 general mortgage bonds maturing during the year 1910. Mr. McCrea said that all improvements to the property, including the completion of the New York tunnel extension, and any new equipment the company may require in 1910 will be paid for out of surplus income and funds now in the treasury.

Boy Impaled on Meat Hook.

Norristown, Pa., Nov. 2.—Frank Whitten, a youth of Conshohocken jumped through a window of a butcher's shop and was caught on a sharp hook, which penetrated the bridge of his nose and injured one eye. The boy hung until companions obtained assistance.

Pastor Refuses Princeton Chair.

Pittsburg, Nov. 2.—Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, and one of Pittsburgh's most prominent ministers, has declined the offer of the chair of homiletics in Princeton Theological seminary.

Postmaster Drops Dead.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Winfred S. Spencer, postmaster of New Rochelle, dropped dead of apoplexy at his home.

The high prices which have prevailed for small grains for the past two years have caused a good many more farmers to stack their grain than for many years past, due to their desire to hold it and not market it with a rush as soon as thrashed. This will result in a brighter and better quality of grain which of itself will fetch a higher price than that badly discolored. More than this, the stacking of the grain has made possible good progress in the plowing of the stubble and the heading off of a seed of weeds in next year's fields.

TAFT ON LAST LEG OF TRIP

Has Nine Days More in the Southern States.

SUMMARIZES HIS TOUR

Declares He Found People Content in Every City, Town and County He Visited—Spent Sixteen Hours in Jackson, Miss.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 2.—With New Orleans behind him, President Taft is on the last leg of his long journey. He has also days more in the southern states, but he already has seen enough of the south to enable him to say that his two months' study of conditions throughout the country is practically finished. The impressions that he has gathered from the trip were summarized in a speech here. Said he:

"I have gone from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean, down the Pacific coast to the southwest corner of the country, through the territories and that great domain of Texas to St. Louis, down the Mississippi to New Orleans, and I have made two hundred odd speeches, and I have survived the hearing of two hundred more, and I am able to say that we never in all our country's history, were as homogeneous a people, as closely allied in all our hopes and ambitions, and in all our pride of country and patriotism as we are today.

Found No Discontent.

"It is possible that there are corners in this country that have escaped me where there is discontent, but if so I have not found them. In every town, I had almost said hamlet, in every city and county, in every state I have found the individual saying to himself:

"I am contented here, because I know what will make this city, or this town, or this county, the best in the state, and I am going to do that very thing."

"And in respect to the ambitions of the people it is the same, every one is proud to be a citizen of the town or county or the state, and all proud to be Americans and to rejoice and thank God that the stars and stripes wave over us, united country."

The president spent sixteen hours in this city, more time than he gave to Chicago or San Francisco. Here in Jackson they say that Mr. Taft is the first president who ever discovered that the city is on the map.

Jackson appreciated the compliment and did her best to make the president's long stay in the city pleasant. The Mississippi folks certainly did their best to make the president's acquaintance, and Mr. Taft was equally cordial and chummy.

Jackson Had a Busy Day.

In carrying out this Taft celebration Jackson had a good many things to contend against. There was a state fair, a circus, a balloon ascension and a parachute jump. The circus and the balloon ascension alone would have discouraged the ordinary city, but Jackson managed to keep the circus parade and the Taft show separate. The circus outfit, with its long line of wild animal cages, Indians and bare back riders, waited in a side street until the Taft procession had passed and had disappeared into the state fair grounds. Then the circus bands struck up and followed on down the street, thus enabling the Jackson folks to kill two birds with one stone. The president helped swell the gate receipts of the Jackson fair just as he has those of many other shows on his trip. The president acknowledged when he started out from Boston that this gate receipt swelling business was to be one of his chief functions, and fair managers have met him more than half way.

Don't Be Old

You will not be, if you will Follow this Simple Plan.

The woman of forty-five should be just in full bloom, and her mature beauty should resist the inroads of Time for many years thereafter. But this is possible only when the delicate skin of the face has been put in perfect condition. A pure healing and cleansing skin food, of which Crown Cream is undoubtedly the best on the market, will work wonders, even with a neglected complexion, when used in connection with correct massage. And that is not only possible, but very easy, for the woman who owns the remarkable massage appliance called the Harlan Beauty Cup. This is a most ingenious vacuum appliance made of pure Para rubber, and gives much better results than are possible with manipulation of the delicate skin texture by the fingers.

While every user of Crown Cream knows that it alone will work wonders, driving away wrinkles, restoring complexion to their youthful beauty and improving the health of the skin in every way, yet by the use of the Beauty Cup these desirable results are hastened and made permanent. Not only is massage made easy, but there is no danger of injury to a delicate skin from unskillful fingers. The Harlan Beauty Cup is sold by all good dealers at the regular price of 50c each, and this is also the price of Crown Cream. If your dealer is not now supplied, they will be sent, prepaid, upon order direct to the Harlan Mfg. Co., Toledo, O. Enclose the exact price and give your dealer's name also. For sale by the People's Drug Store.

A heavy frost which hits an immature corn crop impairs its usefulness in just about the same degree that the smoking of cigarettes impairs the vitality of a small boy. In both instances a pretty effective crimp is put on further progress or usefulness.

There was recently captured at San Pedro, Cal., a sea turtle seven feet long weighing about a thousand pounds and thought by those acquainted with this type of sea life to be at least a thousand years old. Those who caught the turtle tried to land it alive, but it became entangled in the buoy ropes and was finally towed in dead.

The pasture should be one of the best assets on a well managed farm and if properly handled should give as large a return with as little outlay of work as any other acres on the place. One way in which its efficiency may be increased is to give it a light top dressing of fertilizer with the spreader, paying special attention to the spots where the soil seems to be the thinnest. In this way an effective disposal can be made of much of the manure which accumulates about the stables during the summer months, which if not carried out would lose about half of its fertilizing value from exposure to rain and weather.

While conditions on the farm or ranch may be the most healthful to be found anywhere, it is nevertheless true that, from the standpoint of sanitation at least, they are often bad. If the surface drainage from the barnyard or the seepage from the nearby cesspool is toward the well a condition exists which is decidedly bad and may result in an outbreak of disease. Besides this, the cellar may be damp and a fertile stamping ground for disease germs, or the house slops may not be properly disposed of and thus be a source of danger. Lastly, flies are a factor that may be a possible means of breeding disease, in which case the warfare against them should be relentless, including methods which will prevent their hatching as well as means of killing those that are hatched. It is a very natural and overlooked source of these means of safeguarding human health on the farm, because there are so many things more in evidence which take time and attention, but in spite of this it is well to exercise the largest degree of care possible along the lines suggested, as in the end it will stand for comfort, health and economy.

Home Course In Live Stock Farming

IV.—Animal Parasites.

By C. V. GREGORY,

Author of "Home Course in Modern Agriculture," "Making Money on the Farm," Etc.

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association

THERE are two general classes of parasites that affect animals—external and internal.

Chief among external parasites are lice. These live in the hair next to the skin, feeding on it and causing the animal great annoyance.

Not only that, but animals badly affected with lice run down greatly in flesh, look bad and soon become money losers for their owners. There are many kinds of lice affecting horses, cattle and swine, with a few species that confine their attention to sheep and goats. These lice are of two kinds—sucking and biting. The treatment is much the same for both kinds, so that it will not be necessary to treat them separately.

Lice are sometimes difficult to find, even when they are present in considerable numbers. This is especially true of long haired animals. The neck, shoulders and root of tail are the places most frequently affected.

Remedies For Lice.

One of the best remedies for lice on hogs and cattle is crude petroleum. That which has been prepared especially for this purpose by having some of the kerosene taken out is best to use. It can be purchased for about $5 a barrel. The oil can be applied with a spray pump or with a paint brush, care being taken to see that the animal is thoroughly covered. Only one application is necessary, since the oil will adhere to the hair for two weeks or longer, killing the young lice as they hatch.

This treatment, because of its greasiness, cannot be applied to horses that are being used nor to milk cows. For these kerosene emulsion is a good remedy. It is prepared as follows: Dissolve one-half pound of soap in one gallon of boiling water. Remove from fire and add two gallons of kerosene. Churn violently with a spray pump or paddle until a white, creamy mass is formed. This is prepared for use by adding nine parts of water to one of the mixture. It can be applied with a brush or rag when only a few animals are to be treated. If many are affected they can be shut in a small yard and soaked thoroughly with a spray pump. A second treatment at the end of eight days will be necessary to kill the young lice that hatch. Any of the coal tar dips can be used in the same way. Crude carbolic acid diluted with 100 parts of water is also a good remedy for lice.

These liquid applications cannot well be used in winter, and it is at that time that the lice are the worst. They often become especially troublesome on colts toward spring. Pyrethrum, or insect powder, dusted into the hair will kill many of the parasites. Tobacco dust may also be used. Sulphur and lard, mixed to form an ointment and rubbed into the infested places, are effective.

The simple way to handle lice on hogs is to dip them. A dipping tank can be cheaply made by digging a hole the required size and putting a thick layer of cement on the inside. The end at which the hogs come out should be sloping, with cleats to give them a toe hold. The tank should be deep enough so that they will be completely submerged. By having a chute leading up to the tank a herd of hogs can be dipped in a very few minutes. Coal tar dips are as good as anything for this purpose. The dipping will have to be repeated in eight to ten days. Such a dipping is also effective for mange and other skin diseases and will add to the thrift of the hogs.

One of the best means of controlling lice as well as other parasites is prevention. Get the animals free from them and then do not bring a new animal on to the place until you are sure that it is free from parasites.

Ticks and Bots.

In the southern parts of the United States and in Mexico cattle are badly troubled with ticks. Not only are these ticks injurious for the damage they do themselves, but they also serve as carriers for Texas fever germs, being one of the most important means of spreading this disease. Dipping is the most practical remedy for cattle ticks. Dipping vats for cattle are arranged much the same as for hogs and sheep, only on a larger scale.

The warble causes considerable trouble with cattle. The eggs are laid during the summer on the shoulders and necks of the animal. They hatch

A good number of farmers in the vicinity in which the writer lives this year attended big state fairs in company with their good wives. This is the proper system—a practice which many another man might adopt with both pleasure and profit to those concerned. From the very nature of the case family and household cares tie a woman at home closely, and for this reason special pains should be taken to see that now and then at least she is given a change which will put a new element into her life and make more endurable the humdrum work of every day. In all too many instances the the maggots make their way into the mouth and from there bore through the flesh of the back, which they reach early the next spring. The best remedy is to kill the warbles in the backs of the cattle by squeezing them out and crushing them. Thus they are prevented from dropping to the ground and developing into flies to lay eggs for next season's crop of warbles.

Horses are considerably bothered by bot flies. The bot fly lays its eggs on the front legs and breast of the animal. As these hatch the larvae are taken into the mouth of the horse and find their way to the stomach, where they attach themselves to the walls. If present only in small numbers the effects are not noticeable, but in large numbers they seriously affect the health of the horse and sometimes even cause death. As there is no way to dislodge the bots after they have once attached themselves to the stomach, the only way to combat them is by prevention. This can be accomplished by scraping the eggs off the horse's legs every day or so with a blunt knife or rubbing over them a rag wet with kerosene.

Flies.

Among the most troublesome external parasites of horses and cattle are flies. During the summer months they cause great loss of flesh and reduction of milk flow. The numbers of these pests can be greatly reduced by preventive measures. Flies breed in manure piles and refuse of all kinds. By keeping the yards as clean as possible and sprinkling any manure that is left with lime the multiplication of the pests can be greatly discouraged. The worst of the fly family is the horn fly. This is a small black fly, attacking cattle chiefly. It has a habit of gathering about the shoulders and horns at night, which gives it its name. One of the most effective means of dealing with the horn fly is to apply repellent mixtures to the animals. Equal parts of fish oil and tar or axle grease can be used. One application will last a week or ten days. Spraying with kerosene emulsion helps, though this will not last nearly as long as the other remedies. Kerosene emulsion or carbolic acid solution is one of the best remedies for hornflies. Oils cannot be used on horses because of their disagreeable character. Good fly nets do a great deal to keep flies away.

Sheep Parasites.

Sheep are more frequently affected with parasites than any other domestic animal. The worst of the external parasites is the scab mite. This is an insect so small that it can hardly be seen without a magnifying glass. It causes the formation of scabs, under which it hides. Any of the standard dips can be used to combat it. The lime-sulphur dip is usually regarded as the most effective. It is made by slaking twenty pounds of fresh lime and twenty-five pounds of sulphur together with water to make up to 100 gallons. Boil twenty minutes and strain before using. The scab mite is a hard pest to kill, and the dipping must be thorough. The mixture is more effective if kept heated to 110 degrees F. The sheep should be held in the solution until the scabs are thoroughly soaked. Rubbing the dip into the scabs with a stiff brush makes the treatment more certain. It should be repeated in ten days. Dipping in the spring just after shearing and again in the fall will do much to keep the scab mite in control. The same treatment is effective for ticks and lice.

The worst internal parasite of sheep is worms. They cause more losses in the sheep business than all other parasites and disease combined. A "best" remedy for worms has not yet been discovered. As good a plan as any is a tablespoonful of turpentine in five of milk. This is more of a prevention than a cure. Begin when the lambs are three weeks old and give a dose every three weeks until the last of October. Keep them off feed twelve hours before drenching. Great care must be taken in drenching a sheep to keep from strangling it. Another good remedy is one-half ounce of arica nut mixed with three grains of sauntonin and dissolved in three ounces of milk. For lambs only half this dose should be given. Give a dose every day for three days.

Worms in Pigs.

Pigs are often badly affected with worms. Much of the so called hog cholera is only a bad case of worms. Unthriftiness and coughing are the most common symptoms. One of the best remedies is powdered sulphate of iron given at the rate of as much as can be piled on a ten cent piece to the hundred pounds of pig. Mix with slop and give every morning for a week or two weeks if the pigs are badly affected. Be sure that each pig gets his share. If they are not given any supper the night before the remedy will be more effective. After the treatment the litter around the yard should be raked up and burned to destroy the worms and eggs. This is a precaution which it will be prudent not to neglect if it is expected that the farmer's wife has too little recreation and too few outings, either because the man of the house is so selfish that he won't let her step off the place or so much of a tightwad that he does not allow her the money to dress neatly or to spend on a trip that she might like to take. Any woman who does the work that falls to a woman's lot to do on the average farm should receive just as much credit for its successful operation as her husband, who cares for the stock and tills the fields. On this basis she is entitled to outings as much as her husband and to the wherewithal that she may enjoy them.
